Lawrence Riehard appeared before the police court Monday morning, charged with assault on John Moriarty of No. 80 Quaker avenue. The act was alleged to have been committed on Saturday afternoon when Moriarty drove his horse-drawn sawing machine on to Moriarty's lawn while the latter was at work raking. Moriarty said that he stopped the horse and Riehard got out of the vehicle and struck him on the left eye. Riehard said that he was driving up the avenue when a woman called to him and asked to have her wood sawed. He then started to drive up the lawn when Moriarty struck his horse several times with his rake. Riehard then got out and pushed Moriarty away but did not strike him. His testimony was corroborated by his employees, Andrew Carlsky and Frank Stigler. The case was continued to allow time for the woman in question to give her testimony and will be heard Tuesday morning.

Forty-five years ago he came to this city and was employed by Mr. Herbert H. Chappell. He resigned this position on Sept. 10, 1898, and took a similar one with the Holland silk company, and held that position

VULCANITE ROOFINGS

Vulcanite Doubletite Slabs are Exclusive in Design-Beauty and Wear!

LOOK at the slab in the illustration. Notice how the triangular projection on each shingle underlies the slots on the row above. This patented feature makes Doubletite give you double thickness everywhere—even at the slots. Ordinary roofings give only one thickness at the slots. You can't get this feature in any 4-in-1 slab shingle except genuine Vulcanite Doubletite.

Each slab contains four shingles in one piece. This construction makes them easier and very economical to lay. The attractive shingle design and the pleasing colors—red or green—make a truly beautiful roof. And it is just as practical as it is beautiful. Doubletite resists fires and weather changes. It can be laid right over old shingles or directly to roof boards.

Ask your lumber or building supply dealer about this and the other Vulcanite special roofings. There is one for every need, from roll roofing to exclusive patented shingles for the most distinctive roofs. All are "Beaver Quality" products, identified by the Beaver trade-mark.

All patented Vulcanite Roofing specialties are made in both jumbo and standard weights.
